

AMENDMENTS TO ABSTRACT

Please replace the abstract with the following substitute abstract.

A semiconductor device includes a substrate with a via hole. An electrode is formed on a surface of the substrate so that a portion of the electrode extends through the via hole. A photosensitive resin is formed over the surface so as to cover an aperture of the via hole.